History Comes to Life

While you journey through the streets of our well-preserved 18th century town, you'll learn the riveting tales of Daniel Boone, Andrew Jackson, David Crockett, John Sevier, and so many other national treasures of years past. As the Oldest Town in Tennessee, Jonesborough is still adorned with many buildings from as far back as the late 1700s, when those historic figures first began to make their mark on the country.

Today in Jonesborough, the streets are alive with the arts, shops, and eateries, and our Town is known as the Storytelling Capital of the World. Throughout the year, families from across the globe visit us for events like the National Storytelling Festival, our magical Christmas festivities, and Chocolate Fest, and during the summer months, the Farmers Market, Music on the Square and Storytelling Live! Teller in Residence.

We have a little something for everyone. Come visit us in Jonesborough and start telling your own story.

Chuckey Depot Museum

A Town of Firsts

Known as the Storytelling Capital of the World, Jonesborough is home to the first and only annual National Storytelling Festival. But we celebrate many other firsts as well! Jonesborough's story begins in the 18th century, when we were the first capital of the autonomous State of Franklin, established in 1784. In addition, our historic district was among the first from Tennessee to be listed on the National Register of Historic Places; and The Emancipator, the first periodical devoted solely to the abolishment of slavery was published here.

The Great Stage Road

During this time, tales of fertile lands circulated through America's eastern colonies. These stories drew hundreds of people from Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and overseas to travel the Great Stage Road by wagons, coaches, and horseback with their lives in saddlebags.

Jonesborough, established as a county seat of government by North Carolina, attracted settlers with its courthouse and Main Street. Jonesborough was an important stopping point for settlers heading west, a place where they could restock before daring to attempt those early routes.

Our stories are the undeniable remnants of these daring times. They speak of the rise and fall of government, of duels fought, and of families forged through war, disease, and fire. This was a land explored by Daniel Boone and a home away from home for Andrew Jackson shortly before he helped Tennessee become a state.

Experience History First-Hand

Experiencing Jonesborough through a walking tour is the best way to hear the ongoing tales of Tennessee's Oldest Town. Our Heritage Alliance tour guides, dressed in late 19th and early 20th century-style clothing, will escort you through the streets of Jonesborough while sharing little-known facts and the story of the Town from past to present

The Chester Inn State Historic Site

Along the way, you'll visit Main Street's Chester Inn State Historic Site and Museum, located in the heart of downtown. The museum chronicles the history of Jonesborough from 1779 to the present.

Exhibits include information on the State of Franklin, a diorama of Jonesborough in the 1850s, the history of the Chester Inn, and much more. The exhibits rotate quarterly to coincide with the seasons and Town events.

Many of the exhibits feature Jonesborough's extensive collection of historic photos. The stories that are told just by viewing the photographs make more of an impact than words alone can express.

In addition to the Chester Inn Museum, throughout Jonesborough, visitors can see many of the Town's most historic buildings. These include the Oak Hill School, where children can experience a day in the life of a student in 1892; the Christopher Taylor House, built in the 1770s; and the Mansion House, built in 1843 by the Town's first postmaster.

International Storytelling Center

With all of these stories to tell and many more, it's no wonder Jonesborough is considered the Storytelling Capital of the World. Our International Storytelling Center hosts listeners and tellers from across the globe, who gather to share tales both big and small through the Teller-in-Residence program, Jonesborough's StoryTown Radio Show, and the Storytellers Guild.

On the first full weekend in October each year, we host the renowned National Storytelling Festival, the nation's oldest and most dynamic event dedicated to the oral tradition of storytelling showcases a variety of internationally-known artists.

Architectural Salvage Warehouse

Visit the Architectural Salvage Warehouse where you'll find a unique selection of historic materials including doors, windows, mantles, flooring, and more! The Warehouse is open the first and third Saturdays of the month from April through October. For more information and to schedule an appointment please contact the Heritage Alliance at 423.753.9580

The Arts are alive

Spark Your Imagination

Jonesborough offers a thriving arts scene, with everything from theater to expert crafters to music and visual arts. But the scene wouldn't be complete without storytelling, which can be experienced at several locations throughout downtown, such as the International Storytelling Center, with their Storytelling Live! program from May to October.

The Jonesborough Storytellers Guild hosts performances each Tuesday evening throughout the year. And our original storytelling radio hour, Jonesborough's StoryTown Radio Show, performs live the fourth Monday of each month.

Jonesborough Repertory Theatre offers everything from rich dramas and playful comedies to impactful music and inspiring dance, the theater performs a year-round schedule of shows for all ages.

In keeping with the Town's efforts of revitalization and preservation, the Town is embarking on an exciting new preservation project with a full restoration of its 1940s Jackson Theatre. The facility will serve as a music venue, theater, and an independent film house.

For visual arts, visit the McKinney Center at Booker T. Washington School, which opened as a school in 1940 to instruct African-American children. The Center was named after Ernest L. McKinney, who was principal of the school and the Town's first black Alderman. Here you'll find exhibits and local artisan spotlights throughout the year, as well as the Mary B. Martin Program. This program offers world-class educational opportunities in drawing, painting, mosaics, theater, dance, and music.

Southern Hospitality

Jonesborough hospitality began when our oldest commercial structure—the Chester Inn—opened its doors to guests in 1797. In that same year, the foundation for the Historic Eureka Inn was built. Although initially a residence, the building was expanded and 100 years later, guests were welcomed to the Eureka Hotel. Although the name has changed twice, today the establishment's full restoration celebrates the glory days of 1900, and history has been reclaimed using "Eureka" in its current name—the Historic Eureka Inn.

In addition to beautifully preserved establishments, Jonesborough offers a variety of other lodging options including Country Inn & Suites, shop Local

For over 200 years, Jonesborough merchants have taken pride in offering exclusive goods from around the world. Today, as always, service and style thrive all along the historic Main Street of Jonesborough, the heart and soul of the Town.

The picturesque downtown area, with beautiful landscaping and well-preserved historic buildings, creates a welcoming setting for great shopping. Inside these buildings, you will discover handmade crafts, one-of-a-kind gifts, nostalgic antiques, and much more! Art galleries, fashion boutiques, and many other delightful retail shops make it a treat for locals and visitors to do their shopping in Jonesborough.

While most of our shops are locally owned, their retail diversity is amazing. You can find items made by local, regional, and even world-renowned artists.

Downtown is proud to have the streets lined with small businesses that fill their shops and boutiques with items that can be found only in Jonesborough.

festivals & Events

The Fun Never Ends

Any time of year, Jonesborough is host to a wide variety of events for everyone in the family. From arts and crafts to music and dancing, there is never a shortage of fun to be had here!

In early February, we celebrate all things chocolate at our Chocolate Fest—just in time for Valentine's Day. Experience more than 30 varieties of chocolate, visit the s'mores station, and keep your eye out for Willie Wonka and his Oompa Loompas.

When the weather warms up, tour Jonesborough's most enticing gardens while you enjoy tea and light refreshments during our annual Garden Gala in June. Join us May through September for free live music on the Courthouse steps every Friday at 7 p.m. Bring a chair, relax and listen to old-time Appalachian music, folk, bluegrass and more. And in July, fire up your patriotism at the Jonesborough Days Festival, with live music, a parade, fireworks, children's entertainment, craft vendors, games, food, storytelling, and more!

Speaking of storytelling—the National Storytelling Festival in October is an experience that can't be missed. The oldest event in the country dedicated solely to the storytelling tradition brings internationally known artists to town every year.

While you're here, find a special gift or souvenir to take home! In addition to our variety of shops throughout downtown, we also host several craft shows during the year. These events feature the finest handmade keepsakes around.

And when it comes to Christmas... let's just say we know how to deck the halls. Our annual Christmas in Olde Jonesborough events start in late November, featuring Santa, free gift-wrapping, family activities and our Lighted Christmas Parade!

Beside the courthouse, you'll find our Christmas tree, which will be ceremoniously lit on the Saturday following Thanksgiving, preceded by holiday carols and stories.

Ongoing Events

Throughout the year, you can also enjoy:

Fun for All Ages

When you bring your family to Jonesborough, you'll find that it's easy to fill up a day or a weekend (or more!) with activities for everyone.

Our Town offers a variety of beautiful, family-friendly parks for tossing a frisbee, taking a walk, or just relaxing in the shade. Nestled in the mountains of Northeast Tennessee along the Appalachian Trail, there is a world of opportunity for outdoor recreation here.

Camping, hiking, fishing, whitewater rafting, and biking are all within reach. With many public golf courses, this region has been recognized by Golf Digest Magazine as one of the premier places for hitting the greens.

Historic Jonesborough also has youth sports and recreational opportunities, several parks, and walking trails. Stage Road Park, just a block from downtown, offers walking trails, a tennis/pickleball court, playgrounds, and a pavilion. Mill Spring Park is a great place to relax by the creek or have a picnic, and its picturesque setting and lovely gazebo make it a favorite wedding venue.

The Lost State Scenic Walkway offers 3.5 miles of paved trails, and Persimmon Ridge Park hosts an 18-hole disc golf course and hiking trails.

During the warmer months, be sure to bring your swimsuits so you can fully experience everything Wetlands Water Park has to offer.

Splash around a rain tree, water bubblers, tumble buckets, tubes, and a zero-depth wading area; slide down one of the two fiberglass flume waterslides, or relax in the lazy river. Then take a break at the full-service café, under the shaded pavilions, or in the covered dining area.

Here are a few activities perfect for the family:

Main Street

Stroll the brick sidewalks and visit local treasures and merchants. It's sure to be a delight for kids and parents alike.

Chuckey Depot Museum at Jonesborough

Board the 49-year-old caboose and explore the interactive museum inside the restored train depot.

Bright's Zoo
